

Steinway Project Meets Challenge and Approaches Important Milestone

Frances Harrell, member of the Steinway Committee, a group raising funds to purchase a Steinway piano for the Prizery, explained Sunday at the Steinway Benefit Concert in the Chastain Theater, the importance of their effort (top photo). The piano behind her was a rental, the fee for which had to be taken from the proceeds of the concert. Committee Chairman Mike Rowe then announced that the $10,000 challenge made by Ann and Sterling Edmunds of Halifax has been met. (bottom photo) The fulfillment of the challenge brought the fund total to $46,755. The project also realized approximately $1,000 from the concert, bringing the fund almost halfway to the goal of $100,000. Rowe said they are looking for a new challenge and encouraged anyone able to do so to step forward.

Other Steinway Committee members on stage were Mickey Thomas, Lucia Malon, and Major Wray. Member Dolly Fallen was unable to attend the concert which featured performers Sasha and Elizabeth Schumann.
